The Best of Atlanta

Atlanta Tribune's inaugural list of your choice minority-owned businesses in metro Atlanta. Consider it a guide.

“When a client signs up with us, we are going to get to the root of the problem.

Each trainer is invested in the lives of his or her clients.”

3. The Physicians Practice S.O.S. Group is a healthcare consulting and education firm that provides long-range planning, practice assessment, new practice set up, auditing and training to physicians and their staff. For more than 20 years, the company has helped healthcare providers across the country streamline their billing processes, improve patient flow, and keep current with ever-changing state and federal guidelines.

Whether you're preparing for a Federal, State, or Third Party Payer audit, searching for opportunities to expand your practice or need educational services, PPSOS consultants can provide the tools and training you need.

CEO Regina Mixon has been in high demand across the country for her unique style of teaching over the last several years on topics such as reimbursement, coding, compliance and practice management.
